America in Bloom Judges to Visit Washington, MO

Judges from the America in Bloom (AIB) national awards program will visit Washington, MO on July 11 and 12. This is Washington's third entry in the America in Bloom national awards program. The town is one of 28 towns across America working on local revitalization programs with the hopes of receiving a prestigious America in Bloom national award.

Washington is competing against Arroyo Grande, CA; Holliston, MA; and Catskill, NY in the 12,001 to 18,000 population category.

Judges are Melanie Riggs and Katy Moss Warner.

Melanie Riggs

Katy Moss Warner

Melanie Riggs, of New Rochelle, New York, began her career as a horticulturist for the Wildcliff Museum Greenhouses where she worked as the greenhouse Exhibitions Director for many years. Melanie graduated from the University of Vermont with a degree in Plant Science and Botany. She subsequently has studied Landscape Design and has graduate coursework in Botany. Her passion for plants and gardens compliments her passion for travel. Melanie has traveled extensively throughout Europe, South and Central America, Southeast Asia, North Africa and North America.

Riggs said, "I am thrilled to be chosen as an AIB 2013 judge for Washington, MO-- a vibrant city that is making changes to improve so many facets of the community including the fantastic collaboration and cooperation among residents, the municipality, and businesses which creates a sense of family, belonging and community. I look forward to meeting with the vibrant AIB local group that has prepared an exciting schedule of visits to see the projects of the America in Bloom committee. "

Katy Moss Warner is President Emeritus of the American Horticultural Society (AHS), a national, non-profit, member-based organization with a bold vision of "making America a nation of gardeners, a land of gardens. Katy was the Director of Disney's Horticulture and Environmental Initiatives at the Walt Disney World Resort in Florida, responsible for the landscapes of four theme parks, 15 resort properties and over 70 miles of roads on the 30,500-acre property. For 24 years - from 1976 to 2000 - she provided the leadership necessary to ensure that Disney's horticultural traditions of beautiful gardens and themed landscapes were sustained. Katy, who lives in Windermere, Florida, has traveled extensively and has hosted garden tours in Italy, England, Belgium, Czech Republic, Argentina, Morocco as well as many destinations within the USA. In addition to judging for America in Bloom and international competitions, Katy is a member of AIB's Board of Directors.

Warner commented, " It is encouraging to witness a community that recognizes the importance of official policies and ordinances as key to protecting the beauty and character of their community into the future. I am eager to see the results of your vision and focus."

Participants have opportunities to receive recognition in the following areas:

- Bloom rating
- Population category winner
- Outstanding achievement award – the “best of the best” over all participants in each of the six evaluated criteria.
- Special mention – for what the judges deem to be an extraordinary project or program.
- Community Champion
- YouTube Video
- Population category winners are invited to participate in international competition via the Communities in Bloom program in Canada.

To date, more than 200 towns and cities from 41 states have participated in the program and more than 20 million people have been touched by it. Awards will be announced on September 21, 2013 at AIB’s National Symposium and Awards, held this year in Orlando, FL.
